

Can policy-relevant research make a difference?

 blogs.lse.ac.uk/southasia/2012/08/21/can-policy-relevant-research-make-a-difference/

2012-8-21

The International Growth Centre's South Asia Growth Conference 2012 brought together policy-makers and researchers from all the IGC South Asian country programmes: India-Bihar, India-Central, Bangladesh and Pakistan. In this video, the conference participants discuss the intersection between academic research and government policy and emphasise the need for social science research to have a real-world impact.

- Copyright © 2016 London School of Economics