

Photo Gallery: Life in Ghana through the eyes of its young residents

KickStart Ghana, a charity co-founded by LSE staff member David Coles, decided to give some children in the Eastern city of Ho disposable cameras to capture how they see their home. Here are some of the results:

Two chicks nestle under a mother hen in the red dirt of Ho

A Jeep rolls down a tarred road with a mountain in the distance

A clothes store nestled by the roadside adjacent to an advertising hoarding

For more photos, visit the Facebook page.

November 15th, 2012 | Development | 0 Comments

⌵