

Google doesn't exist: by Royal decree

 blogs.lse.ac.uk/polis/2008/10/16/google-doesnt-exist-by-royal-appointment/

2008-10-16

Brenda and Phil the Greek were visiting Google today. I am, of course, a staunch monarchist, especially as I will be part of the welcome party when HRH opens the LSE's New Academic Building next month. So I was delighted that the Prince managed to expose the limitations of the mighty search machine at the heart of the Internet's biggest beast. It seems Google's own London HQ doesn't show up on Google Earth...

- Copyright © 2014 London School of Economics and Political Science