

Great insults of our time: a quiz

 blogs.lse.ac.uk/polis/2008/05/15/great-insults-of-our-time-a-quiz/

2008-5-15

Who is this insult about?:

“With ambition not seen since the early life of Mao Tse Tung; with paranoia not seen since the time of Emperor Tiberius; and a proclivity for nepotism not seen since the papal court of Pope Innocent the tenth – xxxxx is the ultimate hypocrite. If you think about it for a moment xxxxx has many of the attributes of a Roman Emperor, except greatness.”

This is sumptuous stuff but who was it about? A clue. It was written anonymously in a blog about the bloggers' boss and when uncovered it (unsurprisingly) led to their sacking.

The answer is here

Thanks to Tim Watts for that poisonous little gem

- Copyright © 2014 London School of Economics and Political Science