

Book Review: In Search of Criminal Responsibility: Ideas, Interests and Institutions by Nicola Lacey blogs.lse.ac.uk/lsereviewofbooks/2017/05/09/book-review-in-search-of-criminal-responsibility-ideas-interests-and-institutions-by-nicola-lacey/

2017-5-9

Caroline Henaghan is a Graduate Teaching & Research Assistant and Doctoral Candidate in the School of Law at The University of Manchester. With a professional background in law, her works focuses on issues of gender in the criminal law. Currently engaged in research on gender-specific criminal defences, Caroline is an enthusiastic advocate of women's rights and tweets @ThePMDDDiary. Read more by Caroline Henaghan.

Note: This review gives the views of the author, and not the position of the LSE Review of Books blog, or of the London School of Economics.

- Copyright 2013 LSE Review of Books