
Watch: Tony Travers on what Brexit means for parties, the civil service and voters

Tony Travers, Director of the Institute of Public Affairs at the LSE, examines the impact of Brexit on the political parties, on the civil service and more broadly on the electorate.

This post represents the views of the author and not those of the LSE Brexit blog, nor the LSE.